The Constitution
 NOW

Living America, LLC

Living America as a concept began as a collaborative and visionary effort of its principals. The genesis of Living America, LLC and its flagship product, The Constitution Now, was born of the realization that the average adult U.S. citizen has likely not studied the founding documents of this country since High School or College.

The erosion of our fundamental freedoms through the well-intended but sometimes misguided use of those very freedoms by politicians, media and citizen groups regardless of political affiliation is, in the opinion of Living America's founders, partly rooted in the ignorance of the citizenry.

We believe that a solid understanding of the founding documents of the United States of America will help every American apply the principles of our precious citizenship in an empowering way. Active, insightful application of the privileges of citizenship gives substance to the unalienable rights stated in our Declaration of Independence: life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. We believe that those who paid the ultimate price for our freedoms would expect nothing less of us than to be well informed, and to use the very rights they gave all to protect. Furthermore, we firmly believe that by learning these rights we will have greater chances for both freedom and prosperity.
